5. WITHDRAWAL AND RETURNS

5.1. Withdrawal and returns.

The Eurafrika organisation has fixed the following return policies on the payment of the place number in the event of not being able to finally participate in the race.

First section: Return of 50% of the registration fee, from the 23rd July until the 23rd April.

Second section: Return of 25% of the registration fee, from the 24th April to the 1st July.

The third section: Complete loss of the registration fee, from the 15th of September.

To formalise withdrawal, write an e-mail to inscripciones@eurafricatrail.com with the subject line “WITHDRAWAL”.

*Runners registered in the intercontinental races that choose a deferred payment schedule will not be included in this system of return payments.

5.2. Reserves list.

The reserve list will remain open until all registrations are depleted in the corresponding races until the 1st september 2023 . If a place becomes free, the organisation will contact the lucky owner of that place, they will then have to complete the registration within seven days.

6. ABOUT THE COURSE.

6.1. General information.

The route will be properly signposted, in its entirety, whether this is through signposting from the organisation or making the most of footpath markers, with special attention for the marking of urban sections, the marking of crosses in places of danger for the runners and other possible places of potential route confusion. Whenever required, and in the best way possible, the organisation will physically place people on these sites. The race profile will be sent with the compulsory control points of each course to all the runners, included also in the “runner's guide”. Tracking will be enabled for each of the courses through GPS on the website. It is compulsory to use of the chip and the bib number that are handed to each runner by the organisation throughout the whole race. The bib must be placed visibly on the runner on the front of the body. It must not be folded nor damaged. Runners may face a penalty or an immediate disqualification for altering or removing the bib. For those that drop out, it will be compulsory to hand back the bib at a midpoint, control point or refreshment stop.

6.2. Aid stations.

The five stages of the Eurafrica Trail 2023 are carried out under conditions of semi-self-sufficiency. By this term, it is understood that the number of refreshment stops in these races requires that the runners are responsible for their own food and drink during the sections between said refreshment stations. At the refreshment station control points, there will be containers where participants will be able to deposit their waste products, understanding that the refreshment station is the only place available to deposit waste material throughout the race. Doing so in other places will carry a penalty on the runner. Drink and snack refreshment stations will be available on the route, each of which will be detailed in the description of the races of the event on the web page www.eurafricatrail.com and also on the “runner's guide”, which will be sent to every participant before the start of the event. Each participant must bring the food that they believe necessary. The refreshment stations will not have plastic cups, or the like, available as these must be carried by the runner. There will be a refreshment station at the finish line for runners. It is strictly prohibited to receive external help or refreshment from other persons, despite whether they are competing or not, during the event. The only external assistance allowed will be in the areas for refreshment, as its only purpose.

6.3. Control points.

Control points for runners will be situated at the discretion of the organisation, according to security, strategy and access points. The organisation also may place secret control points, at its discretion.

Time limits will be established to guarantee the security of participants and also the organising members of the event. Runners that exceed these time limits will not be permitted to carry on competing. Those that wish to continue will have their bib removed and may continue the race but under their own responsibility. The bib can be collected at the finish line once the race is completed.

Safety cut-off times will be posted on the website and in the race profile.

Runners who are cut off, those who do not participate or who withdraw, in any stage of the Intercontinental races, will start the following stage with a time equal to that of the last classified runner in the previous stage, plus one hour, in the general classification. Failure to pass any of the checkpoints on the chip provided by the organisation may be grounds for penalty or disqualification.

6.4 Event Security.

-The organisation will place, at different stages of the course and at control points, specialised staff responsible for ensuring participant safety. Instructions provided by security staff, who will be clearly identified, must be followed.

-Should a participant abandon the race, this must be communicated to organisation staff as soon as possible.

·Medical personnel and ambulances will be present at strategic points of the course to intervene if necessary.

-Should it become necessary owing to adverse weather conditions, race routes may be altered, with details provided in the technical meeting prior to the beginning of the race.

-Should it be necessary for meteorological or security reasons, the organisation reserves the right to stop the event, modify the course or alter any time-limits.

-A sweep-up team, responsible for closing the race, will observe and verify that participants are not left behind.

6.5 Safety Rules.

-Instructions provided by control staff and by organisation security staff must be followed.

-It is mandatory to stop and provide help to any participants who request it.

-The organisation retains the right to, in order to guarantee each participant's safety, remove a participant from the competition and remove the this participant's race bib/jersey when the organisation considers that the participant finds themselves physically or technically impaired due to fatigue and/or injury of any kind suffered during the race.

-The organisation reserves the right to, for security reasons, mandate groups of competitors, who must subsequently remain together.

6.6 Responsibilities.

-All participants compete at their own risk. Beginning the race and thereafter completing the race are decisions of the participant.

-All participants competing in Intercontinentales will undergo a mandatory official medical revision, which shall be carried out and certified within the 365 days prior to the beginning of the race.

-It is recommended that all participants in Quercus 50 receive an official medical revision, carried out and certified within the 365 days prior to the beginning of the race.

-It is our obligation as organisers and competitors to respect and protect all race locations so that our environmental impact is minimised, to this end, all participants must be aware of and accept environmental regulation #Eurafrica22, the objective of which is to minimise all environmental impacts of the event and event participants.

-Competitors will mark all packets of gel, energy bars and other foodstuffs with their designated participant number. Compliance with this regulation will be controlled by event staff before and during the race.

6.6.1 Penalties.

Penalties or disqualifications of a competitor or competitors shall be applied in response to the following infractions (the refereeing team will have the prerogative to apply warnings, should they consider such action opportune, before applying a penalty):

-Failure to respect the designated itinerary or signalled course in order to take a shortcut.

-Receiving help or provisions (except in case of emergency) from any person, competitor or otherwise, outside of those areas designated for such activities (Avituallamientos).

-Refusal to wear, damage to or transferral of designated race bib/jersey.

-Changing or modifying any equipment provided by the organisation.

-Dropping litter during the race, outside of those areas designated for such activities.

-Blocking other competitors from overtaking or otherwise obstructing other participants.

- Failing to carry all equipment required by the organisation at each control point.
- Failure to follow instructions from the organisation, official referees or agents of partner organisations (Guardia Civil, Protección Civil, etc.).
- Failing to pass through any chip control points or checkpoints.
- Non-possession or failure to properly display any equipment required by the organisation.
- Failure to correctly mark with the corresponding participant number all gels and/or all other supplementary foodstuffs.

7. CLASSIFICATION, TROPHIES AND PRIZES

7.1 Classification.

Classification is based on two criteria:

- In local events, it will be the participant's finishing position.
- In intercontinental events, the times achieved in each stage will be added up to calculate an overall score.

INTERCONTINENTAL competitors who are removed, who leave or do not participate in a stage will begin the following stage with a time equal to that of the slowest qualifying racer from the last stage plus one hour.

Any competitors who fail to complete all stages of the Intercontinental event will be ineligible for winners' medals in their event / category, due to not completing the entirety of the event.

7.2 Trophies and prizes.

- Trophies will be presented to the first, second and third-placing competitors in general classification in each stage, male and female, according to the order in which they reach the finish line.

-*Trophies will be presented to the first, second and third-placing competitors in each subcategory in each stage, male and female, according to the order in which they reach the finish line.

-In each stage, runners will compete both in general classification and within their corresponding subcategory, both the competitors in the INTERCONTINENTAL series of events, as well as those that participate solely in the corresponding local event, competing in a single classification, not distinguishing in awarding prizes between intercontinental and local competitors.

-Leaders' special bib number will be presented at the end of each stage to the first male and first female Intercontinentales qualifiers.

*In the Morocco (Jbel Moussa and Tetouan and Visit Gibraltar Vertical Race, there will be no subcategories.

7.2.1 Finishers.

To classify as a FINISHER, all Intercontinental runners must have participated and completed all stages of the Intercontinental category. Any runners who fail to obtain the status of Finisher at #Eurafrica23 will not receive a medal nor finisher's garment.

8. CATEGORIES

Participants will be divided, for all participation categories, except #VisitGibraltar Vertical Race, and the Jimena and Morocco stages, regardless of sex, into the following categories and subcategories.

-Absolute Category: participants aged 18 and over.

8.1 Subcategories.

-Promesa: participants aged 18 - 23, that is to say participants who do not turn 24 within the reference year.

10. RACECOURSE

The course of the race, for reasons of force majeure and beyond the control of and not the fault of the organisation, may be subject to cancellation, reduction in length, route modification, nullification or stoppage. The trial will be subject to alterations in the route, should the organisation consider such alterations necessary, as a preliminary step to a possible suspension of the trial. The Race Directors reserve the right to remove a runner from the competition in the event that they consider that it would be unsafe for the runner to continue due to exhaustion or fatigue, if the runner is not in possession of all mandatory equipment, or if the runner is not deemed to be in appropriate condition to continue. The decision of the Race Directors is final and not open to appeal.

11. IMAGE RIGHTS, PUBLICITY AND DATA PROTECTION

Acceptance of these regulations also entails granting authorisation to the event organisers, and/or event sponsors, to record, partially or in full, my participation in the event in photographs, for television, films, and/or any other medium as well as granting to the event organisers and/or sponsors the right to use all material recorded during the event for marketing purposes, with the participant having no right to claim economic compensation for said use.

11.1 Data Protection.

In signing up to participate in any category in Eurafrica Trail 2023, participants automatically give their consent to the organisation of the trial to use, solely for sporting, promotional or commercial purposes, their personal data. As established in Spanish law by Ley Orgánica 15/1995, de 13 de diciembre, de la Protección de Datos de Carácter Personal (Organic Law 15/1999 of December 13 on Protection of Personal Data), participants retain the right to access these files in order to rectify or cancel, partially or in full, personal data contained therein. Should participants wish to exercise this right, a written request must be made and delivered to the following email address: hola@euraficatrail.com. Additionally, registered athletes grant express permission to the organisation to publish all names and surnames, placings achieved in the event(s) of the participant, the category, all race times achieved as well as their image.

12. SUSPENSION OF THE TRIAL

Jaleoo S.L. reserves the right to suspend the trial for reasons of force majeure, in order to comply with any advice given by competent authorities and/or adverse weather conditions. In such a case, neither competition entry fees nor participants' costs of any kind will be reimbursed.

13. ACCEPTANCE

Formally confirming participation in any category of Eurafrica Trail, including in the Plan de Acompañantes (Companion Plan), entails the acceptance of the articles set out in these regulations.

14. AMENDMENTS

These regulations may be amended, modified or improved at any time by the organisers and will be notified on the event's website and social media.

Regulations edited on Tuesday, 14th February 2023.
